In 1989, Piper was driving home from a church service when he was hit by a semi-truck. The impact of the crash was so severe that Piper's body was crushed and his skull was split open. He was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident.

But Piper's story didn't end there. While his body lay lifeless on the pavement, his soul was transported to heaven. Piper describes heaven as a place of indescribable beauty and peace. He saw angels, met Jesus, and was shown a glimpse of God's throne.

After 90 minutes in heaven, Piper was sent back to his body. He awoke in a hospital bed, with no memory of his experience. It wasn't until later that he began to remember what had happened.

Piper's story is a powerful reminder that there is more to life than what we can see or touch. It is a story of hope and redemption, and it offers a glimpse into the beauty and wonder of the afterlife.
