This article will take a closer look at the three rounds that made this fight so special, and explore the legacy of this epic battle.

Round 1

The first round of the Hagler-Hearns fight set the tone for what was to come. Both fighters came out swinging, and within the first minute, Hearns had landed a hard right hand that sent Hagler reeling. Hagler responded with a flurry of punches of his own, but Hearns was able to weather the storm and come back with more power shots.

As the round progressed, it became clear that Hearns was the faster and more agile fighter. He was able to land clean punches from all angles, and Hagler was starting to show signs of fatigue. However, Hagler refused to give up, and he kept coming forward, throwing punches with all his might.

The round ended with both fighters still standing, but it was clear that Hearns had taken the first round.

Round 2

The second round was even more brutal than the first. Hagler came out with a renewed sense of urgency, and he began to land more punches on Hearns. However, Hearns was still able to land the harder punches, and he was starting to take a toll on Hagler.

Halfway through the round, Hearns landed a devastating left hook that sent Hagler crashing to the canvas. Hagler was able to get up, but he was clearly hurt. Hearns sensed that Hagler was vulnerable, and he went in for the kill.

Hearns landed a flurry of punches on Hagler, and it seemed like the fight was over. However, Hagler once again showed his incredible heart and determination. He was able to withstand Hearns' onslaught, and he came back with a few punches of his own.

The round ended with both fighters still standing, but it was clear that Hagler had won the second round.

Round 3

The third round was the most brutal and exciting round of the fight. Both fighters came out swinging, and they traded punches with incredible power. Hagler was able to land a few clean punches early in the round, but Hearn was still able to come back with more power shots.

As the round progressed, it became clear that Hagler was starting to take over the fight. He was able to land more punches, and he was starting to wear down Hearn.

With about a minute left in the round, Hagler landed a devastating right hand that sent Hearn crashing to the canvas. Hearn was able to get up, but he was clearly hurt. Hagler sensed that Hearn was vulnerable, and he went in for the kill.

Hagler landed a flurry of punches on Hearn, and this time, Hearn was unable to withstand the onslaught. The referee stopped the fight, and Hagler was declared the winner by knockout.

Legacy of the Three Rounds

The three rounds between Hagler and Hearn are considered to be some of the most thrilling and brutal rounds in boxing history. Both fighters showed incredible heart and determination, and they refused to give up, even when they were clearly hurt.

The fight is also remembered for its historical significance. It was one of the first major fights to be held on pay-per-view, and it helped to usher in a new era of boxing.

Hagler and Hearn both went on to have successful careers, but the three rounds they fought on April 15, 1985, will always be remembered as one of the greatest moments in boxing history.
